Chosen Ones

Colossians 3:12-14(ESV) <sup>12</sup>Put on then, as God’s chosen ones, holy and beloved, compassion, kindness, humility, meekness, and patience, <sup>13</sup>bearing with one another and, if one has a complaint against another, forgiving each other; as the Lord has forgiven you, so you also must forgive. <sup>14</sup>And above all these put on love, which binds everything together in perfect harmony.

Some years ago, recruiters from the Army, Navy, and Marines were invited to make a presentation at a local high school to the students who might be considering a military vocation when they graduated. The day of the presentation arrived, and all the students were gathered in the auditorium. The principal told the three presenters that each would be given 15 minutes to share the information regarding their branch of the military. The presenters from both the Army and the Navy went beyond their allotted 15 minutes. The principal whispered to the Marine, “I’m sorry, but you only have two minutes.”

The Marine in rigid military style marched up to the podium. He took a few moments to survey the students who were gathered there that day. Then after making that observation, he made this announcement: “There are two or three of you who would do well in the Marines. If you are one of them, stop by and see me in the hallway after this is over. In curtly military style, he did an about-face and marched back to his chair and sat down. The Marine recruiter was mobbed in the hallway following the auditorium presentations. A few did talk with the recruiters from the Army and Navy, but most of those interested in a military career wanted to be “One of the few and one of the proud.” They wanted to be Marines.

It’s natural for us to want to be one “elite” group or another. Apparently, the Army and Navy recruiters made it sound like everyone was welcome to join their group. However, the Marine made the inference that they were only looking for the best. Many of us see ourselves as pretty much the “cream of the crop” when it comes to comparisons with others. We don’t want to be one of the last ones selected when members are being chosen to form an athletic team. No, we want to be one of the first ones chosen.

My Fifth-Grade teacher was Mrs. Collins. For singing, she had the best singers sitting in the back of the class and the poorer singers sitting in the front. There was a normal practice where I went to school; so being a poor singer, I was used to sitting right up front in singing class. But Mrs. Collins put me way in the back. Naturally when we sang, I only mouthed the words and didn’t really sing. But I felt a certain amount of pride and pleasure sitting in the back of the class with all the good singers. My pretending to sing went well until Mrs. Collins asked me to sing something one day. Fear of being laughed at stopped me from opening my mouth. Because of my reluctance to sing, Mrs. Collins moved me from the back of the class, where all the good singers were, to the very front, with the rest of the poorer singers. She moved me so far forward that I was sitting on the floor in front of all the desks. And whenever our class had music for the next month, that’s where I sat. For me, sitting on the floor was less embarrassing than opening my mouth to sing.

For much of my life, I certainly didn’t feel like one of God’s Chosen Ones. Oh, I prayed every night and went to worship every now and then, but I felt more like someone hanging on by my fingernails rather than a Chosen One. I felt more like I was pretending to belong rather than having the assurance of being Chosen by God. In my mind, closeness with God was enjoyed only by a very select few—pastors and a few other religious leaders. The rest of us were “hanger-ons.” We were in a group that wanted to end up in heaven, but for us it was a “hope” rather than a “never doubting assurance.” In retrospect, I now believe that evil one and his agents had somehow convinced me that I didn’t measure up when it came to being one of God’s Chosen Ones.

No one can “measure up” to God’s standard of perfection. No one except Jesus. He measures up just fine. And He shared His “measuring up” with me (and all who believe) to provide me with assurance I needed to believe and accept that I am one of God’s Chosen Ones. I was chosen (just as you are) by God’s grace and mercy extended to all believers through the salvation providing efforts of Jesus Christ. His life, death, and resurrection have redeemed me (and you, too) from sin, death, and the devil. Now I know I am one of the Chosen Ones—all because of Jesus. Without embarrassment, I can sing out praises to my Lord, my God, my King—and so can you!

The Hard Goodbye

A few summers ago, our kids asked if we could raise baby chicks. Truth be told, I had wanted chickens for a while. The problem was, we lived in a neighborhood that had a no-chicken policy. We knew it would be difficult to convince our neighborhood homeowners' association to change the policy, but we decided to give it a try.

We explained our plan to the kids, We would go ahead and get chicks, but we had to convince the homeowners' association to let us keep them before they were big enough to move outside. If we weren't successful, at eight weeks old they would go to live in the country with a friend.

The kids were on board, and a couple of days later we picked up four adorable one-day-old chicks. Of course, it didn't take eight weeks to fall in love with chickens. By day one, we were all in. We held them constantly, letting them sleep on us while we read books or watched movies at night. We learned their individual personalities, each of us bonding with one of them. We watched them explore the outdoors for the first time, get their first bug, and then come to snuggle up and rest on our laps. Every night, the kids prayed we would be able to keep our chicks.

Sadly, however, after eight weeks of petitioning and pleading, our HOA was unmoved. We had to say goodbye. There were so many tears.

What we didn't know was that by closing this door, God would open our eyes to an opportunity He had for us that we otherwise would have missed. He said no to our prayers because He had something better in mind. A few months later, we moved out to a homestead where our family thrived. . . alongside a whole flock of chickens.

Thank you, Lord, that Your ways are higher than ours. Thank you that we can trust Your plans for us and that we can have peace, knowing Your are in control. Amen.

SPECIAL VOTERS ASSEMBLY MEETING – JANUARY 23, 2022

A special Voter's Assembly Meeting has been called for Sunday, January 23, 2022, at 1:00 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall. The purpose of this meeting is to select one of the pastoral candidates to place a call to. The Call Committee has narrowed the call list down to a Prime Call List of three candidates and ranked them below.

1. Rev. Jordan McKinley, Vallonia, IN
2. Rev. Andrew Johnson, Manilla, IA
3. Rev. Todd Bunge, Polk City, IA

The communicant members of Zion have until January 15, 2022, to file a valid objection to any candidate on the Prime Call List. The objection must be in writing and submitted to Carol Prozinski (mail to the church office or hand deliver). If such an objection is made and deemed to be valid, then the name of the candidate in question shall be removed from the Prime Call List.

Characterizations and qualifications of each candidate will be available for the Voters at the Special Voters Assembly Meeting on January 23, 2022.

Please pray for God's guidance in this decision and pray for the candidates and their families.

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT! Once again, your Christmas spirit has overwhelmed me and brought joy to my heart. You have reminded me of the goodness, kindness, and unselfishness the Lord has placed in your hearts. You've made me a member of your church family and made me a part of your Christian lives. Your generosity and willingness to share was exemplified again this past quasi-pandemic Christmas Season with the cards, gifts, well-wishes, and personal greetings you shared with me. As I observe your God-given faith being put into practice, I am reminded of the goodness, graciousness, and love of our Lord. May the perfect qualities and attributes of Jesus continue to be evident in your lives for everyone to see and experience. My faith is uplifted by being a member of Jesus' family here at Zion Lutheran Church. Pastor Hendrickson

MEMBER HIGHLIGHTING MINISTRY

At an Evangelism Committee meeting a while back, someone brought up the idea that we should be highlighting various members of our church. The thought being that this would not only show appreciation for our members, but also that others would get to know them by reading a brief writeup about them. We used to do this for new members. It is a ministry that needs someone to take on.

With the advent of smart phones, it is easy to get a picture of someone that could be used in our Newsletter. The picture, along with some general information about that person (or a family) would be published in our monthly Newsletter. I would like to see at least one person/family highlighted each month. (However, we are not limited to only one.)

This could be a great way for you to get to know a little more about our members and for them to get to know you better. Most of our members would greatly enjoy seeing a fellow Zionite featured in our Newsletter. And, to be quite honest, most of us would enjoy being the one highlighted.

I would be glad to help you get started as you ponder the ideas the Lord places in your mind and heart for this in-reach ministry. Information to be included in our next Newsletter is due in the church office on the 20th of each month.

Let me know if this appreciated ministry is something that you would like to take on as you personally serve your Lord with your time and talents. You can contact me with any questions you may have at the church office, 320-632-5797, my cell 320-360-9617, or see me after one of the worship services. Pastor Gary Hendrickson

FELLOWSHIP HOUR

Fellowship Hour following our church service provides a time to extend conversations and build relationships with families, friends and visitors. This is a valuable time of bonding in our church. Volunteers are needed to bring treats (cookies, bars, muffins or donuts etc.) if we are to continue this ministry. There is a signup sheet on the bulletin board by the office. If you can bring something but are unable to serve, please note it on the sheet and we will find someone to serve for you. If you have questions about serving, please contact Vonn Rausch (320) 630-9752
